St. Paul Lutheran Church
Volume 21 Issue 6 June 2022

How should Christians respond to incomprehensible evil?

May was a month of devastating public tragedies in our country. On May 24th, a day when I was happily recalling my one year anniversary of being called to St. Paul, I saw a Facebook post from a someone I went to elementary school through high school with. Chris is a native of Uvalde, TX and still has family there. His young niece was a student at Robb Elementary School. She was among those murdered.

On that Tuesday, a young man, and barely that at 18, with what should have been his whole life ahead of him, entered an elementary school in Texas full of the devil. He murdered Chris' niece, Elhiana, and at least 18 other innocent, young children, who should have had their whole life ahead of them, along with 2 of their teachers, who should have had their whole lives ahead of them.

Ten days before that day a young man, and barely that at 18, with what should have been his whole life ahead of him, entered a grocery store in Buffalo, NY full of bigotry and evil. He murdered 10 innocent people, who should have had their whole lives ahead of them.

And there are many more examples. Lord, have mercy!

We live in a fallen world. A broken world. This is not new yet the gut-wrenching reminder of public tragedies can still make it feel unexpected, and fresh, and real. We are prone to forgetting at times. Worse, we can be dismissive of the “expected” pains of the world and lulled into accepting some of the horrors and sin we see daily.

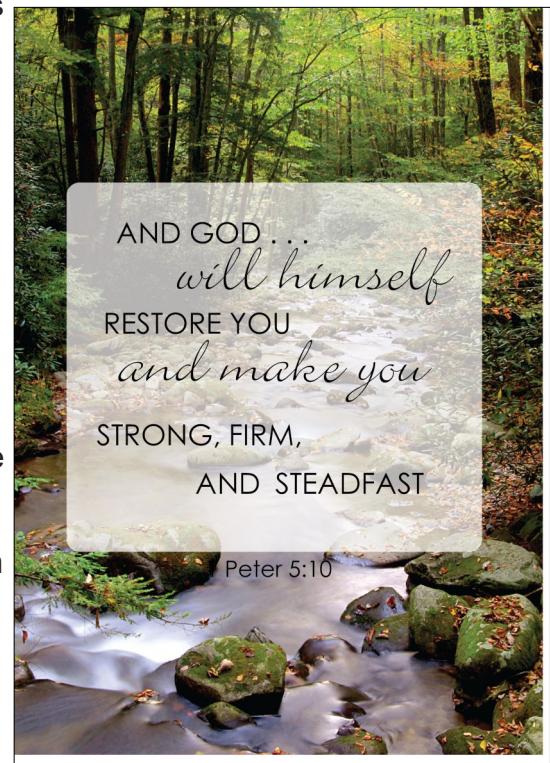

How do we as Christians understand and respond to such evil in the world? We listen to God. We look to the Word. 1 Peter 5:6-10 guides us in our response.

“Cast all your anxiety on him because he cares for you.”

Always remember: God cares. For the slain. For their families. For their community. For us and the whole world. Jesus weeps. When the weight of sin is unbearable, Jesus who bore it on the Cross once and for all, will carry what we cannot.

“Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour.”

The work of Satan continues. He breaks our bodies, our minds, and our hearts if he can. Sin and evil are present in this reality. Let us not shy away from calling a thing what it is.

"Resist him, standing firm in the faith"

How do we resist the works of the devil? God has given us in His Word things we need to resist. Do not harden your hearts! Love the Lord your God with all your heart and soul and mind and love your neighbor as yourself. We must love God by repenting of our error and corruption, our embrace of evil (both passive and active) that is for our own good and no one else. And we must not do this only after Sin bleeds us (or so that it doesn't) but before it destroys our neighbor.

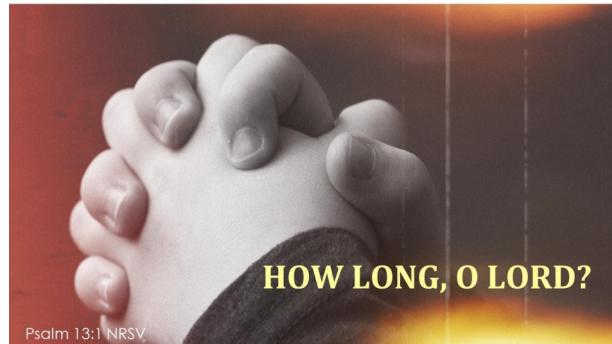

We must look into our own hearts and lives and seek God's help to trade our selfishness for our neighbor's reward. We must ask a most unimaginable question: how am I complicit in fostering more Sin in the world? How many ways did prior acts of selfishness and self-excusing cause what happened today, what happened last week, what happens tomorrow? Lord, forgive us so that we may follow you by loving neighbor. This act of contrition and repentance is not an act of simple piety, rather it is active, forceful piety: what is it that you and our church can do to resist the devil by loving our neighbor, i.e. shielding our neighbor from evil?

"And the God of all grace, who called you to his eternal glory in Christ, after you have suffered a little while, will himself restore you and make you strong, firm and steadfast."

We hear, believe, and preach the Gospel. We cannot hope to truly resist the evil in ourselves nor in the world unless by faith through grace we believe what the Word says: your sins are forgiven. Christ died for the World. Sin, death and the devil with all their power cannot stand against the Love of God. And even the gates of Hell cannot overcome the Christ's Church living in faith.

Let us pray,

Almighty God, you sent your only Son to redeem the world in which the same evil, by our hands, that killed Him in his innocence continues to kill our sons and daughters in theirs. Send the Spirit of our Lord to those who grieve and receive the souls of the dead into your Heavenly Kingdom. Father, we admit our failures and we believe in your forgiveness. We pray for the Holy Spirit to give us faith and strength to resist the devil, worship you, and love our neighbor. Help us to bind the wounds of those who are shattered and prevent us from equipping others to fall into the hands of the devil. We pray in the name of our Lord, Jesus, who welcomes the children, who crushes Hell underfoot, and who will come again. Amen.

From the Piece Makers

Spring brings the return of many things, and one of them is Garage Sales. As driving home last weekend, I saw three signs announcing, "Garage Sale". The Piece Makers hope that as you visit a garage sale you keep an eye out for sheets. Any size sheet will work for us.

We were recently asked if people who do not belong to St. Paul can come and work with the Piece Makers. YES, our only criteria is if you want to work with us and can come on Friday's between 10 and 2. We have many jobs in making a quilt and will teach volunteers what is need. Youth and teens are welcome to join us and summer is a good time get started in helping other by making quilts.
